

Joao Nunes – ANSD - Portugal

João Nunes has been involved in emergency medical services since 1999 and has dedicated much of his career to operational response, training, and knowledge development. A volunteer with the Portuguese Red Cross since 2002 and a professional with the Portuguese National Institute of Medical Emergency (INEM) since 2004, he has built extensive experience as an Emergency Medical Technician, instructor and educational content developer. Passionate about communication, collaboration, and professional development, João strongly believes that sharing knowledge and experience is one of the most effective ways to improve emergency care and rescue performance worldwide.

Throughout his career, João has contributed to the preparation and continuous development of healthcare and rescue professionals through innovative training resources and educational initiatives. Since 2013, he is also a regular medical assessor at national and international rescue competitions organized by ANSD and the World Rescue Organisation (WRO), supporting events in countries including Portugal, Ireland, France, Luxembourg, Croatia and Romania.
